Jay's Story

Our May Story is Written by P. Jay Bontrager who lives in Goshen, Indiana

A Passion for Pie

Growing up in Northern Indiana, in a Mennonite/Amish community, provided me with an ideal setting to learn and appreciate pie!

Even in my early years, I was fascinated by the kitchen and all the goodies that were forthcoming!

I was particularly fascinated with my Mothers ability to create pies, from the pastry making, to the finished product with delectable fruit or custard fillings!

I can't remember my first attempt at making a pie, but it was pre-teen as I recall.

My Aunt Phyllis, who was a Home Economics teacher spent quite a bit of time with our family. With her knowledge, expertise and opinions, she weighed in on the "proper ways" to cook and bake!

At any rate pie isn't particularly exclusive to this local culture in where I grew up, but it is very much a part of Mennonite/Amish culture. There are several restaurants in our area that still make handmade pie and offer it on the menu!

My Father used to say, "I like 2 kinds of Pie, warm or cold" and I have to admit, I would agree!

Did You Know?

"The Ancient Egyptians were the first to invent a dish close to what we know as a pie today. They had a honey filling covered in a crusty cake made from oats, wheat, rye or barley. A recipe for chicken pie was also discovered on a tablet carved prior to 2000 BC."

Jay's Favorite Rhubarb Pie

"The key to the pie, is to keep the ingredients as cold as possible"
-Jay

"With spring just around the corner, here is my favorite recipe for rhubarb/custard Pie." - Jay

Read the recipe and gather the ingredients for each step before you start baking.

To Start, Set Aside:

- 3 Cups of washed, dried, and diced rhubarb
- 9 Inch pie pan
- Rolling pin
- Pastry blender/butter or fork

Custard

- 1 ¼ Cups sugar
- ¼ Teaspoon salt
- 3 Tablespoon flour (slightly rounded)
- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 Eggs
- 2 Tablespoon water

- Mix the sugar, salt, and flour first. Blend them together, so the flour doesn't "lump up" when the liquids are added and set aside.
- In a larger separate bowl, beat the eggs, then add the water to the beaten eggs.
- Add the dry ingredients to the egg/water mix, and mix/beat well. It will be a rather thick consistency.
- Put the custard in the fridge to keep it cold while prepping the rest.

Recipe continues on the next page.

Pie Crust

1 1/3 Cups all-purpose flour
1/2 Teaspoon salt
1/2 Cup shortening plus 2 tablespoons butter (I like to use Butter Flavor Crisco for the shortening)
3-4 Tablespoons ice water

- In a bowl, blend the flour and salt.
- "Cut in" the shortening to the flour and salt mixture, using a pastry blender/cutter or a fork.
- Work the shortening until the mix looks like pea size crumbles.
- Sprinkle the water into the mixture, a tablespoon at a time, until it is well mixed, and the pastry forms a ball-shape of it's own and leaves the sides of the bowl. You may have to add a little bit more water.
- Gather up the dough and work a little with your hands so that it holds together.
- Keep the crust in the fridge covered with saran wrap while prepping the rest of the steps.

Crumb Topping

1/4 Cup of chilled butter
1/2 Cup of brown sugar (add more to taste)
1 Cup of flour

- In a bowl, combine the flour and brown sugar.
- Combine the butter into the flour and brown sugar mixture and either use your hands, a fork, or a pastry blender/cutter to crumble it together and form small to medium crumbles.
- Set aside until you are ready to combine the rest of the ingredients.

Combining the Ingredients

- Roll out the pastry on floured surface or pastry cloth. I like to use a floured rolling pin cover, this helps the dough to not stick to the rolling pin but this is optional.
- Line the pie plate (9 inch) with the rolled out crust.
- Place the diced rhubarb at the bottom of the pan onto the crust.
- Pour the cold custard over the rhubarb.
- Sprinkle the crumble on top of the custard to form the “top” of the pie.
- Crimp the edge of the crust to give a finished look.
- Bake at 425°F for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325°F/350°F for 30 minutes more.

I hope you enjoy this recipe! -Jay

Craft: Pencil Decoration

This is a simple activity decorating a pencil that can then be used or given away as a gift.

Supplies Needed:

1. Pencil
2. Decorative artificial flower
3. Pipe cleaner
4. Scotch tape

1. Place the stem of the flower along the top of the pencil with the flower sticking up above it. Attach with some scotch tape.

2. Start winding the pipe cleaner from the very top of the pencil (over the stem and tape). Keep winding down until you run out of pipe cleaner.

And there it is, your decorated pencil!

Memory Game

What is Memory?

Memory is our ability to encode, store, retain and subsequently recall information and past experiences in the human brain. It can be thought of in general terms as the use of past experience to affect or influence current behavior.

Today's Activity is a Memory Challenge.

Study the picture page for 30 seconds to a minute. Once you have studied the picture, turn the page over and write down as many items as you can remember.

If you don't get them all, you can either turn the page over again and spend more time looking at it before adding more items to your sheet or, just try to identify which items you missed the first time.

If you repeat this activity on another day you will probably find that you remember more of the items. Repeating it is a good way to give your memory some exercise.

Study the pictures for 30 seconds to a minute.
Turn the page over and write down as many of the 10 pictures that you can remember without looking back at the pictures.

Write the Items you Remember Here

Anagrams: African Animals

African Animals

"Giraffes are the tallest mammals on Earth. Their legs alone are taller than many humans, about 6 feet".

"Giraffes spend most of their lives standing up; they even sleep and give birth standing up."
